DR. CLYDE FISHER GIVES ILLUSTRATED LECTURE ON ASTRONOMY

Famous Astrologer Discusses "Our Place in the Milky Way"

Believe it or not: the ancients believed that the earth was the center of all the planets and that the moon, stars, and the sun revolved around it.

The sun is one million times larger than the earth. Jupiter has nine moons. Neptune goes around the sun once in one hundred and sixty-five years. These are only a few of the many interesting facts Dr. Clyde Fisher discussed in his illustrated lecture on "Our Place in the Milky Way." Various beliefs about the planets up to the present day were reviewed and then the many means of proving the present theory were given.

All the planets were discussed in the order of their distance from the sun, including Eros which was discovered about a year and a half ago. Many pictures were flashed on the screen showing the comparisons between the earth and other planets and various characteristics of their surfaces. Besides the planets Dr. Fisher told of interesting comets and meteorites he has seen. He concluded his lecture with views of the most important astronomical observatories and their telescopes.

Dr. Clyde Fisher is very well informed in astronomy. For the past fifteen years he has lectured in all parts of the United States. In 1913 he became a member of the scientific staff of the American Museum of Natural History. Since then he has been in charge of the educational work, photography, and has been curator of astronomy. In 1924 Dr. Fisher led the Arctic Lapland Expedition for the museum. He made 19,000 feet of motion pictures and many still life photos. In the summer of 1927 he accompanied Dr. Ernest Seaton on his trip through western United States, studying the sign talking and dancing of the Indians. His greatest interest at present is to bring a Zeiss Planetarium to America and establish a Hall of Astronomy at the museum.

PROGRAM FOR COLLEGE BROADCASTS COMPLETE

An extensive music program is being carried out during the summer months by the music department under the direction of Mr. Walter Grimm.

The college broadcasts featured over WKBH every Friday evening from eight to eight-thirty throughout the year are being continued with new talent added. During the first week of school when a call was made for additional talent, quite a number of students responded and from these were recruited several new features.

A brass quartet had been organized and it will be heard over the air at an early date.

The first broadcast of the summer was heard on Friday, June 26. The program consisted of a baritone solo by Calvin Barkow, a violin solo by Ethel Olson, and songs by a male quintet composed of Ulysses Whiteis, Calvin Barkow, Raymond Brown, Eugene Sweazey, and Corwin Jones accompanied by Agnes Bard.

On July 3, Miss Etta Christensen of the rural department will be featured with dialect readings. Edna Justman, teacher of piano, will offer a piano solo and Corwin Jones a baritone solo.

NEW WINONAN STAFF IS APPOINTED FOR SUMMER

Following the announcement made by President Maxwell that there would be two issues of the Winonan published during the summer, it was necessary to appoint a staff. It was decided to promote Helen Hammond to that position as she had been assistant editor of the paper during the past school year. She is especially well prepared for this work due to her fine work on the Teachers College paper and the paper and annual of the Winona Senior High School. She is a sophomore in the upper grade course.

Mabel Green and Stanley Arbingast were appointed assistant editors. They have both served in this capacity previous to their graduation from the two year course. Miss Green has an unusually fine newspaper background because of her work as editor at South High School in Minneapolis. Miss Green will teach in the public schools at River Falls, Wisconsin during the coming school year. Mr. Arbingast was a member of the Sentinel Staff at Central High School in Austin. He is principal of the Public School in Lewisville, Minnesota.

Other members of the staff are Eugene Pollard of Morgan, Arthur Johlf of Fulda, Raymond Happe of Spirit Lake, Iowa, Harriet Pike of Austin, Harriet Messenger of Byron, Isabelle Ayshford of Stewartville, Evabell Davidshofer of Minneiska, Anita Groose of Winona, Julia Sullivan of Minneapolis, Esther Simpson of Chatfield, Roxanna Warrington of Austin, Corwin Jones of Le Roy, Harry McGrath of Kellogg and Genevieve Parish, Janet deGroot, Larry Boyd, Constance Christopher, Luella Schildnecht all of Winona.

MR. GRIMM GIVEN MEDAL

Mr. Walter Grimm of this College has just received a silver medal for services with the National High School orchestra. The pins were presented to the directors of the various sections of the orchestra by the National Bureau for the advancement of Music of which C. M. Tremaine is director.

Mr. Grimm had charge of the training of the thirty cellists in sectional rehearsals.

The medal bears the theme of one of the symphonies the orchestra played.

President Maxwell left Monday June 22, for Los Angeles, California, where he will attend the session of the National Education Association. It lasted from June 27 to July 3.

This is an architect's sketch of the new $800,000 set of buildings now being erected on the campus of the Moorhead State Teachers College. The college was destroyed by fire in February 1930. A special appropriation was made by the state legislature for the purpose of replacement. The new buildings will provide for administrative offices, classrooms, training school, and physical education. We wish to congratulate our sister college on this fine improvement.

1200 Take River Excursion to La Crosse June 23

Students at the summer course at the Winona State Teachers college, former students and graduates, and their families and friends, numbering about 1,200 left Tuesday morning, June 23, on the Steamer Capital, for an all-day outing on the Mississippi.

The annual river excursion sponsored by the Winona College has been omitted for two summers, because of inability to secure the steamer during the summer session. This summer, through the determined efforts of the faculty for securing the steamer, "The Capitol," an enjoyable day was spent on the river.

The steamer left the levee in Winona at ten o'clock, with a happy crown on board, and reached

FIRST DANCE OF YEAR HELD AT SHEPARD

On the hot and sultry evening of June 18, an enthusiastic number of dancers tripped down the stairs of Shepard Hall into the social room. A cool breeze greeted them and gave them false ideas of pleasurable dancing. A few of the braver ones started to dance to the peppy music of Whiteis and his Collegians.

It was Miss Richards, however, who "set the ball to rolling." She suggested placing slips on one's shoulder explaining one's identity. Then she requested the young men to line up near the center of the room. After placing a similar number of young ladies opposite them, she explained that they were to walk up, make themselves known to each other, and to dance for a while. This was repeated until all the young ladies had danced. Everyone seemed to enjoy and were pleased with this sort of introduction. This was followed by general dancing.

The dancers forgot the heat in the enjoyment of a delicious pineapple ice, served by Miss Richards and Miss Beery.

The party, which was attended by between one-hundred and one-hundred and fifty people, lasted from 6:30 P.M. until 8:00 P.M.

BRING IN THE NEWS

This is your paper. It contains news of your doings and your interests. Do you know of any incident that would be of interest to the readers of the Winonan? If you do, bring it into the Activities room. It will be appreciated very much. Thank you!

SUMMER SOCIAL PROGRAM IS BIGGER AND BETTER

Four more outstanding events for the summer social program have been announced by Dean Florence L. Richards, head of the college social committee.

As soon as the weather will permit, an all-college picnic will be held at the Arches, west of Stockton Hill. This is always an affair which everyone enjoys. Cars will be provided for persons wishing to make the trip. Be sure to take your bathing suit because the park boasts one of the finest pools to be found in the state.

A Men's Dinner will be held at Shepard Hall at some time in the near future. This will give the young men of the college and the faculty men a fine opportunity to become acquainted, and thus promote a finer feeling of fellowship and goodwill.

A garden party will be held on Morey Hall grounds near the close of the session. This party is in honor of the summer-school graduates and is always one of the loveliest held during the term. The grounds will be lighted with Japanese lanterns. Refreshments will be served and a fine program has been arranged.

A formal supper dance will be held at the Garden Gate after the play on the evening of July 10. The men are asked to wear tuxedos, summer formals, or dark suits. Only a limited number of reservations are available. Arrangements should be made with Calvin Barkow at an early date.

"PLUS OR MINUS" TO BE GIVEN BY DIE-NO-MO

On Friday evening, July 10, a vaudeville show "Plus or Minus" will be given. It will consist of musical numbers, dance choruses, both blonde and brunette, and solo work. Colorful costumes and lighting effects will add much to the gayety and lightness of the production.

The choruses have started practicing and the work is progressing toward a successful production. With only two weeks to prepare for the show, a great deal of work has to be covered in that time under the capable direction of Miss Quirene Anderson.

The business staff has been chosen and has been busy for a number of days. They are as follows:

Corwin Jones, Business Manager. Cal Barkow, Ticket Sales Manager. Laurel Pennock, Stage Manager. Stanley Arbingast, Publicity Manager. Muriel Hoyme, Costumes.

SEVENTY-FIRST ANNUAL SUMMER SESSION BEGINS

Varied Academic and Social Program Offered

With the largest enrollment for several years, Winona State Teachers College began its seventy-first annual summer session on Monday morning, June 15.

Students are enrolled from twelve states and two foreign countries. The states represented are Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, South Dakota, Montana, Colorado, Indiana, California, Wyoming and North Dakota. Saskatchewan, Canada and the Philippine Islands are also represented in our summer group.

Familiar faces of the persons who return from year to year, are seen about the college corridors. Many renewed old friendships at the get-acquainted parties which were arranged by Miss Richards.

Two additional faculty members were added to teach and supervise the work with subnormal children. Miss Nellie Feetham of Duluth and Miss Evelyn Edbloom of Saint Paul are teaching this course. These young women are highly skilled in teaching and have had fine preparation for their work.

Other faculty members for the summer include Dr. Maxwell, Helen B. Pritchard, Willis E. Boots, Etta Christensen, Mildred Engstrom, Minnie Zimmerman, Arthur T. French, Ella Clark, Glen Fishbaugh, Louise Strobehn, Leslie Gage, Glendon E. Galligan, Walter Grimm, Frederick A. Jederman, Florence McKinley, Grace Muir, William Munson, Margaret Miller, Viola Beery, Anne Sielaff, Marie Paape, William A. Owens, Florence L. Richards, R. J. Scarborough, Edwin S. Selle, J. H. Sandt, and Charles L. Simmers.

A fine program of social affairs, organ recitals, dramatics, lectures, chorus work, instrument work, radio broadcasts, athletics, newspaper work, steamer excursion and other events has been arranged so that each person will have the opportunity to enter some form of extra-curricular activity.

Winonan Aims:

To develop a stronger bond between teachers and students.
To keep the members of the Alumni Society in touch with school affairs.
To stimulate interest in teaching as a profession.

YOURSELF VERSUS THE MOB

The fundamental purpose of school is scholarship — scholarship and character. But, strangely enough, it is in these two things that so many students fail.

School to many means a good time, something with which to occupy themselves until they are of an age to take life seriously. This view is entirely, irrevocably wrong; school is education plus an attendant good time, not mainly a good time with a small but disagreeable amount of work attached for discipline.

As to character — there are few individual characters in a school; each student floats along too unresistingly with the mass, adopting the general habits and manner of the ordinary, to lift himself higher, to be distinctly individual. What is right for the rest, what the rest approve, is good enough for each, seems to be the common code. And this, again, is wrong. Each student is originally individual, and he, as well as others, will get more out of his life if he keeps this individuality.

Emerson was a great individualist, outstandingly so among even the other great writers and philosophers who believed in originality and personality.

In one of his essays he says: "Insist on yourself; never imitate." And also, "— but the great man is he who in the midst of a crowd keeps with perfect sweetness the independence of solitude."

So individuality makes for character. An individualist always keeps his ideals, and is much more able to live up to them than an ordinary person. And consequently, one who has ideals will hold to the standards of truth and honesty and courage.

One need not live a hermit's life to be individual, nor even adopt the solitary habits of many of the great thinkers; this would be impossible to a student. But he may always stick to his ideals, and strive to increase his knowledge. To make the most of himself, he must promote these two qualities, scholarship and character.

(With apologies to the Austin Sentinel.)

TEN TIPS

Recently we have noticed a striking example of the defeat of matter over mind. You've seen people limping languidly and listlessly lately; haven't you? Ask one of them, "What's the matter?" He will say, "Oh, I'm so hot," and he will pass a discouraged handkerchief across his forehead. So the matter is the heat, and the mind is that which all of us have.

In an effort to help our fellow sufferers, we have, by dint of much effort and its liquid accompaniment, been able to gather the following data on how to combat the heat. You will notice that some of the suggestions contradict others, but don't be disturbed. People from Patagonia cannot be expected to hold the same views as those from Pennsylvania. We suggest that you adopt one of these methods as your very own and stick to it. This should be easy; for we have stuck to things steadfastly this week with absolutely no effort on our part.

1. Ignore the weather. This is advocated by one of our highest authorities. If you have a good ignorer, this is just the thing for you. If yours is out of order, read on.

2. Work hard. Even to us this advice sounds rather unsatisfactory. It might help you to forget the heat, but it would entirely alienate you from your friends.

3. Don't work at all. At first thought this would seem almost Elysian, but think! Think of that dull, dark brown taste that follows too much leisure.

4. Drink at least eight (or was it eighteen?) glasses of water. Statistics vary on the amount. Adopt a middle course.

5. Don't talk about the weather. During the winter of the big blue snow it was so cold that a man's words froze before they were uttered. Paul Bunyan ordered that all the swear words a man said should be stored in boxes until spring. Then each man was forced to listen to his vocabulary thawing out. It is said to have effected a remarkable decrease in sulphurous language. If, by some ingenious process all our remarks about the weather, such as, "Oh, isn't it hot?", "It's not the heat; it's the humidity," and so on and on, could be saved, and presented to us en masse, we would resolve to fulfill this number five.

6. Ask somebody to unsew your winter woollies for you. There is no longer any danger of the chill that follows a premature shedding.

7. Take up aesthetic dancing. This is the kind of dancing in which one is fully clothed when wearing a yard of georgette.

8. Consider the inhabitants of the torrid zone. You will call for your raccoon coat.

9. Be a stowaway on the Nautilus. This is just a little late to be practical, but it WAS a good idea.

10. Accept the heat. Think of it as you do of spinach. You don't like it, but it's good for you.

We could relate many more helpful hints, but it's too hot.

WINONAN SACHEMS

Miss Quirene Anderson has been unanimously selected by the Winonan Staff as the subject for "The Schem" in this issue.

Miss Anderson is small in stature but great in her ability to "put things over." She is familiar to all summer session students because of her direction of dramatic productions during the past four summer quarters. Among the productions were "That's U.C.," "Campus Capers," "Wizard of Oz" and "Babes in Toyland."

Miss Anderson is a graduate of the Cathedral High School of Winona. She entered the college in the fall of 1925, and was graduated in the spring of 1927. For two years she taught in the public schools of New Richland, Minnesota. During the school year of 1929-30 she returned to the college for third year work. She accepted a position in the public schools of Sioux City, Iowa, and has been teaching there the past two years.

While a student in the College Miss Anderson was very active in all extra curricular activities. She was a member of the Wenonah Players, Die-No-Mo, Catholic Students, Physical Education and Junior High School Clubs. She also held an office in her class.

A fine spirit of willingness and cheerfulness is characteristic of Quirene's attitude toward her school work and fellow students.

She is a recognized leader and is at the fore in everything worthwhile.

This summer in conjunction with the Die-No-Mo Club, Quirene has planned a zippy, zestful production to be known as "Plus or Minus." Her skillful direction will be seen in dialogue, musical, chorus dancing and feature numbers.

The Winonan says "Hats off to a versatile little lady!"

DAYS OF REAL SPORT

Sunburned arms and backs and tanned skins are no uncommon sights around school this summer. And men are not the only ones who sport this proof of participation in summer sports. In the days of our grandmothers, the girls who took part in sports were considered "unladylike" and avoided by their more decorous sisters. Today all that is changed. The girl who does not participate in sports of some sort is rare.

With so many different activities to choose from, there is really no reason why anyone, man or woman, should deny himself the pleasure afforded by these healthful activities. Winona affords many opportunities for students at summer school to take part in sports. The municipal golf links are available to everyone and the golf classes are conducted to help students improve their strokes; the tennis courts are in great demand even on warmer days; and the lake is the ideal place on these hot days for cooling off.

Are you taking advantage of these opportunities? If not, you are missing something. Get out on the golf links or in the swim at the lake, and you'll forget about the heat.

EXCHANGE

A fine program consisting of music, dramatic recitals, plays, lectures, excursions, week-end trips, and athletics has been arranged for the summer session at the Western State Teachers College at Kalamazoo, Michigan.

One of the features of commencement week at Moorhead Teachers College is the annual Swing-Out Day. The school took an active part in the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the city of Moorhead.

Men students at the Teachers College in Oshkosh, Wisconsin, are enjoying a fine new lounge room that has recently been arranged for them.

A new training school is being constructed at the State Normal School in Geneseo, New York.

Norman Thomas, Former Socialist Candidate for President, was a recent speaker at the Northern State Teachers College in Aberdeen, South Dakota.

Death has called Miss Dora E. Carver, one of the best loved teachers on the faculty of the La Crosse Teachers College.

THE ORGAN

How ineffably sublime it seems That ingenuity itself—and dreams Can pattern an edifice of tones, and towers, That reaches almost beyond human powers.

— Jessie Perry.

ORDER

Stones heaped in a worthless mass
Beside a mass covered bower,
Under the touch of an artisan
Become a tall and stately tower.
Common clay of the lowest type,
Despised in the eyes of man,
Under the touch of the master,
Becomes a part of an intricate plan.
Thus it is with the human mind
That is filled with confusion and doubt.
And only by relentless patience
The snarls are raveled out
Thus freeing the mind of its fetters
That hamper and hold it tight
Revealing a place of beauty
That glows with eternal light.
— Nellie Bennett.

EVENING

A glorious struggle is past.
The sun has surrendered to the shadows of the night,
And is noiselessly drawn over the sharp edge of horizon.
A dark shade of indigo covers the quieting earth.
A cricket stirs in the damp meadow grass.
The pond frogs sing an inspired solo.
And night creeps slowly on.
— Genevieve Dougherty.

"TENT DREAMS"

The moon shines in through the slack tent net,
It dances gaily on my coverlet,
The lakes waves gurgle and laugh at me
And at silvery fish I'm going to see!
Motor boats purr through a path-way of gold
Making waves dance in a glittering fold,
Still pools glisten and shine like the sun.
Oh, how I wish now, that day had begun!
— Emma Frankson.

The Melting Pot

BY "POLLY" POLLARD

For the past few years most of us have been watching some one else doing athletic things in a big way. At last it is our turn. It is now up to us to show the youngsters how things should be done.

Tennis, golf, horseshoe and kittenball will be the menu for the summer.

It has become the craze now-a-days for people to tell how things are going to happen. After due consideration and card reading we have peered into the future and have guessed the results of the coming sport events.

The first guesses on the tennis tournament are: Galligan defeating Berkman, Mattson holding the edge on Algiers, Riccio trouncing Jederman, Rowell and Kujath putting on an even match with Kujath winning, Sivula falling before Sweazy, Blatnick downing Borger, James making it two out of three from Boots, Rupp winning from Sandt, and Pennock downing McLeod. The three best guesses are Pennock, Blatnick and Sweazy.

In horseshoe Rupp will beat Johlfs, Burreson will trounce Pollard, Moyer will overcome Riccio, Borger will win from Kujath and Hubert will beat Algiers.

The married men will try to prove by means of a kittenball series that married life is better than the so-called "freedom."

We "Independents" believe otherwise and intend to prove it. Watch for the date of the series and don't fail to attend this battle of the diamond. The dope indicated that the series will go the limit with the "Grooms" on the short end.

There may not be any Bobby Jones in school but the golf tournament will be more than tepid anyway. The students are out to scalp the faculty.

It is beginning to appear that the only place the faculty will be able to hold their own is in the classroom. The students have the upper hand in tennis and it looks like they may cop the golf title too.

ORGAN SELECTIONS HEARD IN CHAPEL RECITAL

There's music in the air that thrills us with a joy profound!

Friday, June 26 at a Vesper Service the student body was given a chance to hear selections from a few famous composers on the college organ.

The college chorus which has been working diligently under the direction of Mr. Grimm, contributed one number.

The atmosphere was pleasing and cool and gave those who enjoy the splendor of music a period in the realm of that majestic power.

The program consisted of the following numbers:

Tannhauser March.....Wagner
Melody.....Charles G. Dawes
Caprice.....Gaston Dethier
Sing! Sing! Birds on the Wing.....
.....Nutting, College Chorus
Suite for Orchestra.....
.....Maurice Moszkowski
In the Cathedral.....Gabriel Pierne

GARVIN HEIGHTS ROAD

TENNIS AND GOLF MOST POPULAR WOMEN'S SPORTS

Lively interest is being shown in the various special summer sports which are being directed by Miss McKinley and offered to the women. Tennis and golf are the most popular. Golf is given the first hour every day except Monday also the third hour every day except Friday. Tennis is offered the second hours every day except Wednesday.

All women students have the opportunity to enjoy a healthful and instructive summer by making use of these special classes. Regular physical education credit is given for this work if the student so wishes. If taking it for non-credit, she may receive W.A.A. points which will be counted in the regular college year for W.A.A. awards.

"BARNYARD GOLF" ARTISTS WILL TOSS IRONS

Ten "barnyard golf" artists will toss the irons to decide the summer school championship.

Hubert, the former champion, will attempt to retain the title against a strong field.

The schedule for the first round is:

Rupp vs. Johlfs
Burreson vs. Pollard
Mayer vs. Riccio
Borger vs. Kujath
Hubert vs. Alger
McGrath vs. Pennock

JEWISH RABBI PRESENTS "THE MAN MOSES"

Rabbi Harry Margolis of St. Paul delivered an address to the student body in Chapel on June 25. He chose as his subject, "The Man Moses: a Study of Human Character."

According to Rabbi Margolis, most famous descriptions of Moses have been written by three different men — one who portrays him as a lawgiver, another who stresses his qualities as a human individual, and still another who attempts to analyze his life from a psychological standpoint.

There seem to be some discrepancies between history and facts in the story of Moses. While history pictures him merely as a prophet, facts tend to bring his human traits into the limelight.

The character of the man, Moses, involves three main elements — distinctiveness, stability, and responsibility. Distinctiveness is shown in that Moses had the courage to pursue an ideal; stability is illustrated by the fact that he used his powers wisely, and by his ability to face an issue squarely; his responsibility is demonstrated by his sense of duty toward his people.

New Simile — As pathetic as a horsefly on an auto radiator.

JUNIOR RED CROSS HOLD EXHIBIT

An exhibit displaying various activities of the Jr. Red Cross was given by Miss Eskridge, a representative, on Friday, June 26. Activities from foreign countries as well as America were shown. Children from all over the world are represented in this organization.

Scrap-books, toys, dolls, etc. are exchanged between the children of different nations to give them a better understanding of the various customs of those countries.

Many of the teachers here for the summer were interested in the Junior Red Cross Magazine and various pamphlets on life-saving, first aid and other phases of the movement.

Miss Eskridge lectured to several of the college classes. Her material was very interesting as well as important.

WOMEN'S TENNIS TOURNAMENT WELL UNDER WAY

Women interested in a tennis tournament have organized a fair sized tournament of eleven players. Those participating are: A. Wein, N. Busian, M. Kalouner, A. Sunde, L. Gustafson, C. Sullivan, R. Bung, E. Ritter, J. Knutson, A. Groose, and W. Snyder.

The girls are patiently waiting for a little more agreeable weather to play off their sets. Two sets out of three will be played to determine the winner.

SCHOOL KITTENBALL TEAM ORGANIZED

A school kittenball team has been organized which will play a regular schedule of games.

Last Saturday the team lost a nine inning practice game to the North Side Team by a score of 10 to 7.

In addition a series will be played between the married men and the single men.

1200 Take Excursion to La Crosse June 23

La Crosse, Wisconsin, at one o'clock. There the "Capitol" docked for two hours to allow for lunch and sight-seeing tours.

On the thirty mile trip to La-Crosse, everyone found some form of enjoyment on the steamer. For those who cared to dance, music was furnished on the second deck by a ten piece colored band. The ballroom was prettily decorated and there was ample room for all who cared to dance. Sight-seeing chairs were found on the first and second decks for all who wanted to enjoy the beautiful scenery to be seen along the Mississippi. Many were helpfully informed by Mr. Scarborough as to the history and development of the river. During intermissions in dancing, Miss McKinley taught several people how to play shuffle board, indoor golf, tennis, and ping-pong.

Probably, upon arrival at La-Crosse, people there must have wondered why all the excursionists had such an ambitious shuffle? Certainly their marching song will explain, as it was "Bodega or starve!" Upon reaching that noted cafeteria one gained the impression that he was in a New York bread-line. But, anyway, everyone brightened up after eating. Afterward the sights of La Crosse were observed by most of the students and their friends.

The boat left La Crosse at three and arrived at Winona at eight o'clock. The general belief among students was that this excursion was one of the most enjoyable ever held, because of ideal weather conditions and of the good feeling which predominated everywhere. We thank the faculty most heartily for their efforts in securing the

TENNIS TOURNAMENT WELL STARTED

Although Bill Tilden and Richards are not represented in the school tournament this summer, the meet will be a success. Twenty one players have tossed their racquet in to the ring for the election to the office of "King of the Courts".

Four faculty members have entered in the attempt to wrest the crown from the students who have held it so long.

As in the past there will be two flights, namely the championship and consolation.

The three favorites who are expected to go far are Pennock, 1929 champion, Blatnick and Sweazy.

All matches will consist of three sets with the exception of the finals which will go to the first player winning three sets.

First round matches are:

McGrath vs. Pollard
Berkman vs. Galligan
Mattson vs. Algiers
Riccio vs. Jederman
Sivula vs. Sweazy
Blatnick vs. Borger
James vs. Boots
Rupp vs. Sandt
McLeod vs. Pennock
Powell vs. Kujath
Johlfs vs. Bye

Tournament Scores

Tennis

Sweazy defeated Sivula 6-0, 6-3.

Horseshoe

Riccio downed Moyer 19-21, 21-17, 21-13.

Now that the American Ryder team has disposed of the British team, the only golf events of any importance before the national open will be the school tournament.

The faculty, who have in the past held the upper, will fine hard going to repeat their past successes.

The entrants and their average scores are: Galligan 96, Sandt 95, Algiers 80, Boots 105, Rowell 100, Riccio, 106, Whiteis 115, Jones 100, Borger 96.

The tournament will be played at Arcadia.

JUNE GRADUATES ATTEND ALUMNI BANQUET

The alumni banquet on Wednesday of June third this year was made very enjoyable by the presence of the June graduating class. At the annual meeting of the alumni society the following officers were elected:

President, Malvern H. Manuel, Minneapolis.
Vice-president, Kenneth Nissen, Winona.

Directors for one year, Mrs. Theresa O'Leary O'Brien, Winona, Mabel Marvin, Winona.

Directors for two years, Charles L. Simmers, Winona, Mrs. Blanche Crawford Neville, Minneapolis.
Directors for three years, Grace Muir, Winona, Sara Sill, Rochester.

Secretary, Mabel Marvin, Winona.
Treasurer, Mrs. Elsie Peterson Lind, Winona.

The society voted to give assistance in improving the athletic field.

It was suggested that an alumni breakfast be held during S.E.M.-E.A. week.

One should not miss any of the athletic events because they all will be exciting affairs.

steamer and hope we may have many more excursions as successful as this one.

SWEEPINGS

We Repeat: This line of balderdash is dedicated to the many aspiring pedagogues whose jovial trivialities, shall so ably make this column what it is not.

Our arguments about the weather are distinctively very heated.

At present we might define "College-bred" as the flour of youth and the dough of old age.

We know one gentleman who has actually found an apparent fallacy in the method of measuring intelligence. When he was tested to learn if his mind was higher than that of a sixteen year old, the test virtually proved that he hadn't yet been born.

Yes, we agree that if it hadn't been for women, men would still be in paradise.

Height of Innocence: When he asked her what she would say to a little kiss, she answered that she had never spoken to one.

Then we might also mention what may be termed the height of something or another, the case in which a young coed thought a certain novel had a sad ending because the heroine died and the hero had to go back to his wife.

Says the Cynic: Daddy's day is mostly popoganda.

And now we have the Scotchman, who, after buying a dose of strychnine with which to commit suicide, changed his mind and resorted to a pistol, his dying wish being that his wife should use the poison for the purpose he had intended.

This depression has its good points. Think of the crowded conditions that would exist in our mails if the loafers were arrested and had no excuse for their idleness.

Another: Those out of a job have time to attend excursions and picture shows, rather than spending their time loafing.

Many married men are involuntarily learning that their wives are subject to change without notice.

News Item: "Buff" James says that the only place that's hot in Eveleth is between the buildings. He even goes so far as to say that if the Eveleth homes were in Winona they would be much cooler than any we have here now!

Our Theme Song: Heat Aches.

And now we have the sock who couldn't understand how the English lady lost two thousand pounds in three weeks.

Why not let youth take the air rather than pay for it in colleges and universities.

It was surprising to note the large number of young men that have introduced private courses in astronomy since the lecture last Wednesday morning. And this is Summer School too!

Only three weeks of school remaining—that's the spirit.

Arthur Matson wants to know what they're planning on planting in the tennis courts?

Young Bride—"Now, dear, what will I get if I cook a meal like that every day?"

Husband—"My life insurance."

Trying to find an old-fashioned girl nowadays is like locating a woodpecker with false teeth.

Which reminds us of several things we would like to know about old fashioned girls. What has happened (we ask) to:

—the girl who used to get a year's thrill from a few minutes ride on a ferris wheel?

—the chorus girl whom nobody would speak to because she worked on the stage?

—the party where the girl served lemonade and cake?

FLIVVERS

I think that I shall never live
To see a really perfect fliv,
A flivver different in every way
From flivvers that we drive today;
A fliv with pep and power and speed,
Things that all good flivvers need.
Flivvers are made by Ford, I know,
But only God could make one go.
(Apologies to J. Kilmer).

MODERN POETRY

Roses are red,
Violets are blue,
Dandelions are yellow,
And carnations are
Of various colors.

In days of old when knights so bold
Were sire instead of mister.
It could be said of any maid
That no man ever kissed her.
In this new age it is the rage
For every little sister
To proudly boast and give a toast
That no man ever missed her.

Heard Between Classes

Slippery ice,
Very thin.
Pretty girl,
Tumbled in.
Saw a boy
On the bank;
Gave a shriek,
Then she sank,

Boy on the bank
Heard the shout;
Jumped right in,
Helped her out.
Now he's hers—
Very nice;
But she had
To "break the ice."

Interested Friend—"Oh, are you writing to that fellow who used to be on the football team?"

T. C. Girl—"Well, seein' the coach threw him overboard, I thought I'd drop him a line."

A Scotchman called up the doctor in great agitation.

"Come at once!" he said. "Ma wee child has swallowed a sixpence!"

"How old is it?" asked the doctor.

"1894" replied the canny Scot.

KAFFE KLATCH HELD AT SHEPARD SOCIAL HALL

Decorated with summer flowers, the social room at Shepard Hall was made attractive for the first social event of the Teachers College summer session, Wednesday, June 17.

It was intended to be a Kaffe Klatch, but due to the heat of the June day, ice cream was found more desirable than coffee and tea.

The guests remarked concerning the coolness of the Hall compared to the heat elsewhere.

The faculty and students, numbering about sixty, coming and going at intervals, found themselves making new friends, renewing old friendships and passing a delightful afternoon.

WHO'S WHO, WHAT'S WHAT AND WHO CARES

College Truths

Mike Vermilyea—"What would you advise me to read after graduation?"

Mr. Boots—"The 'Help Wanted' column."

A man laid down in the river,
Because he hadn't a bed,
He took a sheet of water,
And covered up his head.

Aviator—"Like my new plane?"

Daly—"She's a bird!"

Aviator—"She, my eye, it's a mail plane."

For a gold football, though it have no tongue, will speak with most miraculous organ.

A Chinese definition of a teacher:
Teacher, teacher, all day teacher,
night she markee papers.
Nervy, creepy, sleepy; no one kissie, no one huggie; poor old maidie, no one lovie.

Buff—"Some one must have tagged that fellow."

Tony—"Why?"

Buff—"He thinks he's IT."

Laurel Pennock narrowly averted disaster by grabbing Stanley viciously by the wrist as he was gliding seaward due to his experience with a banana peel. Some kindly soul had thrown the peel overboard but a protruding deck caught the object on its flight, hence the dire catastrophe.

We hear the Galligans, Jedermans, and Fishbaughers are enjoying the warm weather giving the rising generation lemonade. Mr. Galligan and Fishbaugher especially enjoy the warm weather as the young hopefuls are smaller, therefore they are not able to consume so much of the invigorating beverage. Hence there is more left for the fathers. However Mr. Jederman isn't so lucky.

A rather interesting discussion was overheard in the Activities Room the other day between the editor of this paper and certain staff members. The subject of debate was the relative price of milk and cream. A certain reporter informed the editor that the difference was probably due to the difficulty a cow had in sitting upon a small bottle rather than upon a large one, hence the increase in cost.

Miss Quirene Anderson was pleasantly surprised last week when she awoke to the fact that the class she was in was one that she had taken previously. Therefore she was not entitled to further credit in such course. So tripping merrily to the office she made arrangements to get a different book and enter another class—only a week late.

John Blatnik raised a geographic question on our return trip from La Crosse. He wondered how the first settlers knew when they had reached Winona on their first trip north.

A slight shower was experienced on the steamer Capitol as we drew into port. There was a scurry for raincoats. However everyone was pleased, for when the whistle stopped blowing the rain ceased.

We editors may dig and toil
Till our finger tips are sore,
But some wise fish is sure to mourn
"I've heard that joke before."

350 STUDENTS ENROLL IN SUMMER COURSE

Bright and early on the warm "sunshiny" Monday morning of June 15, small groups of students were seen about both the interior and the exterior of the College and by nine-thirty these same groups of students wandered about every nook and corner of the building. Long lines of anxiously waiting students had already formed and the business of registering had begun.

Miss Pritchard's office was filled to overflowing with students seeking advice and consultation.

At eleven o'clock 436 students had registered which completed the list.

Chapel then opened with a beautiful organ number after which the regular chapel program was carried out.

At eleven-thirty a short meeting of the fourth hour classes was held and in the afternoon the first, second and third hour classes were held.

There were many pleasant meetings of former students on this first day, the student body being made up largely of former graduates. It was not an usual sight to see students affectionately greeting and embracing each other. There were many happy reunions between teachers and their former students also. This ended the first promising day of the summer session.
